

What building amenities will tenants want in a Post-Covid world?

As large segments of employees across industries express a desire to continue to work from home following the COVID-19 pandemic, employers are exploring a new generation of amenities and differentiators that will entice staff to return to the office while keeping them safe, happy, healthy and engaged. These new amenities include:

- State-of-the-art fitness offerings
- High-quality food & dining options
- Spaces to connect over beverages, i.e. coffee bars, wine bars & more
- Impactful gathering spaces rich in meaningful design touches
